

New Mexico Emotionally Focused Therapy Community

July 10, 2020

Dear Colleagues,

I hope this letter finds each of you and your loved ones well and safe during this challenging time.

It is hard to believe that it has been 4 months since we had to suddenly cancel the March Externship in Santa Fe because of the public health crisis of COVID-19. I know that there was great anticipation and enthusiasm for attending this important training and that, for some, you have been hoping and waiting for access to Emotionally Focused Therapy training in New Mexico for quite some time. Though necessary, I understand the disappointment for all.

Since March, I have been working with our wonderful trainers, Drs. Robert Allan and Lisa Palmer-Olsen, to navigate the challenges of COVID-19 to reschedule the training. I had hoped to reach out to you all much sooner with an update. However, in these uncertain times it has been difficult to commit to new dates without knowing when we can count on the safety of holding the Externship in person.

Just recently, ICCEFT, in response to the ongoing COVID-19 crisis, has announced that the 4 day Externship may be held online. We are now in the process of making a final decision about how to best move ahead and deciding on new dates. I will communicate this information as soon as it is confirmed but I wanted to let you all know about the process that we're in.

I deeply appreciate your patience, understanding and flexibility in waiting to hear from me with an update.. For those out of state, you may have made plans to attend another Externship. If not, we still hope you will join us here! To my colleagues in New Mexico, I hope your interest in attending the training still holds. In this time of physical and social distancing, diving into attachment theory and creating connections through the EFT Externship will be an especially meaningful experience.

I look forward to being in touch again soon with more information about rescheduled dates. The New Mexico EFT Community will also be planning a "Meet and Greet" for those registered who would like to connect prior to the training. In the meantime, I welcome hearing from you with any questions or concerns and hope everyone continues to stay well and safe. I can be contacted at marcellegrantlisw@gmail.com or 505-986-3478.

Warm regards,
Marcelle Grant, LCSW
